Part Three: Descendants of Anthony M. TERRELL

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a multi-part series on the ancestors and descendants of Anthony M. TERRELL. This project was initiated by lifetime member, Mrs. Helen Nunnally in order to provide a complete record for her immediate line. Other parts in later issues will contain more known descendants of Anthony M. TERRELL. This work is mostly information supplied to Don C. Terrill and the Society by Mrs. Nunnally and her cousins. Numbers in ^{super-script} following names refer to end notes indicating where Mr. Terrill received the information pertaining to that person. Information on the descendants of Martha TERRELL was added by #492 Cheri Gentile. We thank her for her valuable contribution to this work. DFB

Arlene had taught school all of her life until she retired. She was loved by everyone that knew her. No one could ever remember hearing her say one bad word about anyone. She taught that to her family members and students. The church was packed and they came as far away as California. Songs were In The Garden; & When We All Get To Heaven; scriptures were Ecclesiastes 3: 1-8 & 2 Timothy 4: 7-8. She truly was a loving Christian and one of the finest ladies I have ever known. Helen Nunnally.

The Chesapeake Affair of 1807

On 22 Jun 1807 there was an attack by the British warship Leopard upon the United States frigate Chesapeake, as the result of the British claim to the right to search and impress "British" (usually American) seamen. The attack occurred at sea off Hampton Roads, Virginia. The militia was called out by the authority of the President. This was one of the events leading to the War of 1812.

1806-07 Boarder Dispute with Spain

Following the Louisiana Purchase, Spain and the United States could not agree on Louisiana's western border with Texas, which was then still held by Mexico. Spanish officials maintained that the Texan border traditionally had extended to the Arroyo Hondo, a dry gulch west of Natchitoches. The United States, however, argued that Louisiana's border stretched at least to the Sabine River, and possibly even to the Rio Grande.

Negotiations to resolve the western border dispute broke down when Spain and the United States severed diplomatic relations in 1805. Rumors circulated that both sides were gathering troops near the contested area, and in 1806 General WILKINSON sent his forces up the Red River. Meanwhile, Col. Aaron BURR was gathering a private army to seize New Orleans and sever the U.S. western territories from the United States. (BURR was subsequently tried for treason, and acquitted.) However, General WILKINSON managed to avert warfare and found a solution acceptable to both sides, in part because he served both parties -- the United States as commander of southwestern troops and Spain as a spy. The compromise that was reached with Spain established a "neutral strip" in the disputed area, with neither power presiding over it for over a decade. Finally, in 1819 a treaty signed by both parties placed the boundary between Texas and the United States along the Sabine River, where it remains today. The Battle of Fallen Timbers

In Ohio, the defeat by the Indians of U.S. Generals HARMAR in 1790 and General ST. CLAIR in 1791 made the Indians of the Ohio country seem invincible. But the United States Army learned valuable lessons from these defeats.

General Anthony WAYNE took command of the Legion of the United States in 1792. He trained his men hard and waited until his army was ready before marching against the Ohio Indians. The great chief Little Turtle called General WAYNE the "chief who never sleeps" and said the Indians should make peace. The other Indian leaders did not agree. Blue Jacket took over as war chief.

On 28 July 1794, General WAYNE's army marched northward from Greenville. The army had 2,000 men of the Legion of the United States and 1,500 mounted volunteers (including Maj. Gen. Charles SCOTT's command). On 20 August 1794 they met a force of about 1,100 Indians including Wyandots, Miamis, Ottawas, Delawares, Mingoes, Shawnees, Potawatomis, Chippewas, and some Canadian militia disguised as Indians. There was a fierce battle through a part of the forest where a recent storm had knocked down many trees. These "fallen timbers" gave the battle its name. The American army lost about 30 men and another 100 were wounded. The Indian losses are hard to count because they carried most of their dead and wounded away from the battlefield. Probably more than 200 warriors were killed and more than double that many were wounded.

General WAYNE's army defeated the Indians and chased them to the British Fort Miami. The British would not help the Indians. The Indians felt betrayed by the British. One year later, the Indians came to Greenville to surrender formally. They signed the Treaty of Greenville opening all of Ohio to white settlers.

The TURRELLS of East Suffolk

An Exercise in Genealogy from

Robert TURRELL-CLARKE (836)

Quoted (with editorial changes) from the Tyrrell Family History Society Newsletter (U.K.), Vol. 25, No. 2, Summer 2002, pp. 44-49
(with permission)

Editors note: There were a substantial number of TURRELL/TYRRELL/TERRELL (etc.) immigrations to the U.S. from Great Britain throughout the 18th and 19th centuries. While we do not yet know how many (if any) came from East Suffolk, this article is of historical interest because of the connection of the TURRELL family to the Norman invasion and the Battle of Hastings in 1066. Don Terrill Capitalization of surnames and bold emphasis added to conform to Trails format. DFB

The TURRELLS of East Suffolk are comparatively well recorded; The family tree, which has been professionally verified, dates back to 1480. Two questions, however, immediately arise. Firstly, how has it been possible to get as far back as 1480 in the first place, and secondly if one can get back so far, why not further?

Our researchers, and there were several working on different aspects, followed the traditional method, tracing back the male line from son to father, generation by generation. The remarkable thing is that there were always sons at every stage. Secondly, the family appears to have had sufficient land and goods to make wills, without which the task would have been impossible before the date when censuses began in about 1840. So wills often hold the key to successful genealogy. Of course, there are also education and other social records, and trade directories, but these are largely 19th century. Wills and Taxation returns such as the Hearth Tax, come into their own when many other sources have died out.

There is one other factor which is of prime importance, and that is location. The TURRALLs of East Suffolk are found in Bungay and [near-by] areas in 1480; members of the family were still there two hundred years later. As the centuries passed they moved comparatively little in terms of distance, perhaps ten to twenty miles a generation, the reason being that this was a large farming family, predominately arable; they lived within a day's ride of each other so that mutual help was available at harvest time.

In the 18th century the TURRALLs were more than farmers. Edmund TURRALL claims the rank of Gentleman (and at the time it was a rank) and he and his wife, Alice, are reputedly the subject of a painting by GAINSBOROUGH. They aspired to marry into the CLARKE family of East Bergholt, prosperous clothier merchants associated with the wool trade, one member of which, Stephen CLARKE, had been Lord High Sheriff of Suffolk in the 17th century.

For some centuries the family had also been engaged in business other than farming; several of the younger sons who had not inherited land soon diversified into associated businesses. John TURRALL of Sternfield had a major wheelwright enterprise, and in Bungay other members of the family had businesses in leather (cordwainers) and were substantially involved in the meat industry. Not surprisingly we find the TURRALLs owning property in Bungay in the 16th, 17th, and 18th centuries, and South Norfolk, as well as at Leiston; if one sets out to chart the villages where the family farmed over the centuries they include: Elmham St. James, South Elmham, Holton, Yoxford, Halesworth, Blyford, Laxfield, Great and Little Glenham, Grundisburgh, Wrentham, Orford, Pettistree and interestingly, Thorington.

The family name was not always spelled in the same way but only once, in 1600, does it appear as TYRRELL. No earlier or later generations spells it in that way and it must have been a slip on the part of the clerk who recorded it. All of our researchers are agreed. The TURRALLs of East Suffolk are not in any way related to the TYRRELLs of Gipping [formerly believed to be the ancestors of the Virginia Terrells]. Unlike that family, they are always found in East Suffolk and nowhere else. The TYRRELLs may have come to Gipping as late as the 16th century (see O.F. BROWN's The Tyrells of England). They are, of course, found in Essex and Norfolk much earlier. But the TURRALLs have a far longer Suffolk pedigree, as we were to discover.

The Family before 1480

What then were the sources which we now had to rely? Surprisingly some of them were at Arundel where our Medieval Latin scholar went to examine a number of deeds in the archives of the Dukes of Norfolk. Then there were taxation records such as the Hearth Tax and the lay Subsidy Return of 1327, Army lists and in particular the Feet of Fines which stretch over centuries, recording local land transactions. Only the names of landowners appear in these records, which are, in effect, land transfers between members of the gentry. Not surprisingly the TYRRELLs of Gipping regularly appear, the TURRALLs of East Suffolk less so but they are there nonetheless in the medieval records for each century, albeit the number of entries are limited in East Suffolk and South Norfolk.

The overall impression was that the family's social status might have suffered something of a decline in the 14th and 15th centuries. We were not able to trace back from son to father as we had done previously simply because there were not enough wills at our disposal. That was not say that they had not been made but simply that we have not discovered them; however, the search continues at present.

We were now in the realms of history rather than genealogy and the best course of action seemed to be to locate the family before and at the time of the Norman Conquest [AD 1066], when they were substantial and well recorded, and work forward. This was, of course, not at all the genealogist's approach but it was all that was left to us; as it transpired the results are very interesting.

The Viking Family

The historians generally agreed that on the balance or probabilities this was a Danelaw family that probably arrived with the Great Army of Viking-Danes in 870 AD. It had been previously thought that the Great Army arrived and wintered at Thetford before moving north, and that it had not colonized the land; the reason for that view was simply that too few artifacts have been found. However, more recent archaeology has changed things. Brooches, for example, have been found of comparatively poor quality suggesting that quite humble families had settled with the Danish Army in East Anglia [England].

So here we have a warrior family in the Danelaw in the 9th and 10th centuries, probably associated with, related to or descended from THORKELL the Tall, and Earl THORKELL, a substantial landowner in East Anglia.

The Foundation of Normandy

It was in 875 that ROLLO claimed to have a dream, the result of which was that he led part of the Viking Army across to France to settle on the banks of the Seine near Paris. It was a momentous move. We know that one branch of the TURRALL family followed him. Earl THURAL of Bedford went across the sea to France, along with the men who were willing to serve him.

Over the next one hundred fifty years the Vikings quickly integrated with their Frankish hosts. What emerged was the most efficient fighting machine in the whole of Europe – the Normans.

Hastings

The men who returned at Hastings in 1066 bore little or no relationship [resemblance?] to those who had stayed behind, albeit that they had the same family origins. In character they were predominantly French or Frankish; their cavalry was trained as that of CHARLEMAGNE had been. Their taste in poetry and music was far more Frankish than Norse and, above all, they brought with them a system of law which was quite unique.

Turolde of Bayeux: The capture of King Harold

William the Conqueror had a half-brother, Odo, Bishop of Bayeux. His first knight was TUROLDE, the only knight named in the Bayeux Tapestry which was probably made in Canterbury under the supervision of Odo's wife. TUROLDE and his brother were leading figures in Normandy before the Conquest, Constables of Bayeux and Rouen. TUROLDE was also King William's personal legate [emissary]. It was he who was sent to negotiate with a French Count, to hand over the captured Harold, the Saxon King, who had been washed ashore after a storm off the coast of France. The same custody of Harold was of the utmost importance to William the Conqueror's future plans that he entrusted that task to TUROLDE whom we see in the Bayeux Tapestry — a very tall, armored knight who fought at Hastings (see picture).

Translation of Latin text in above picture: Where Harold and Guy converse. Where Duke William's messengers came to Guy. Tuold William's messengers. This is image 5 of the Entire Bayeux Tapestry at <http://hastings1066.com/index.html>

The Norman Invasion

William planned his Norman invasion with meticulous care, making sure that as far as possible he had allies in England before setting sail. He also had excellent information about the country through which his invading army would pass and that intelligence, insofar as it involved the North Downs of Kent, was gathered by TUOLD prior to the Norman Conquest. It was, therefore, not surprising that after the victory he was given charge of Rochester Castle. It was from that stronghold that his notorious sons Ralph (who may well be he who is described in the Domesday Book as Ralph the Insane or Ralph the Fat; Gilbert (who became Lord of Longstowe in Cambridgeshire); Roger (the first knight of the Bishop of London) and TUOLD, the notorious Abbot of Peterborough who was also probably a member of the family. The strong-armed tactics of these sons and other relations of TUOLD are well recorded in Domesday. It's pages are littered with the word invasit (i.e., seized) in relation to manorial land. It follows that by 1086, at the time of Domesday, the TUOLDS had very considerable land holdings on behalf of those they represented, namely Odo, Bishop of Bayeux, the Bishop of London and others.

The Song of Roland

One of the most famous medieval poems is The Song of Roland, which ends:

*This poem was written by Toroldus

It is thought that he was a brother of those who had fought at the Battle of Hastings and probably became Bishop of Evreueu. He eventually became Chaplain to King William Rufus. It is confidently claimed by the historians that it is this TOROLD who wrote the Song of Roland. Interestingly, it recalls the war between the Franks under Charlemagne and the Moors, fought in Spain and Southern France.

The Family that did not cross to France

There is also some record of the Viking Family that had remained behind in England and had not followed ROLLO to Normandy. We find in a Deed of 1100, a gift made by them for the foundation of a priory at Horkesley on the Essex/Suffolk border.

Hereward the Wake

At the Great Feast held by the monks of Ely in 1071, HEREWARD the Wake sat on the right hand of the Abbot of Ely and THORKELL on the left. This was the leader of that part of the family which had remained in England and had not followed ROLLO to Germany. Here he was, a man who felt threatened by Norman usurpation of his lands, joining forces with the rebel HEREWARD. It is an irony that a member of the Norman family, TUOLD, The Abbot of Peterborough, was the man who was sent by William the Conqueror to deal with HEREWARD. It is, of course, the stuff of legend that HEREWARD escaped, only to give himself up later in return for his life.

The Medieval Tuold Family: Knights Templar and Hospitaller

From time to time we find members of the family in the records. A TUOLD, likely to be a descendant of Roger, knight to the Bishop of London, is found giving land for the foundation of Charing Cross Hospital in 1189. He is clearly a Knight Hospitaller.

The First Crusade

There is some evidence that several members of the family accompanied ODO of Bayeux as Knights Templar on the First Crusade. ODO was to die in Sicily. It is not certain what became of the TURRALLs, but it is thought that several of them may have died in the battle capturing Jerusalem. Whatever the truth may be, the historians are agreed, the family appears to have undergone a change of social status in the early Middle Ages. One or two still emerge in the limelight, for example TURRALL, the royal cook in the thirteenth century, and his descendants two generations later. The name appears now and then in the land transactions of the Feet of Fines. There is a Judge, a Master of the Middle Temple. There is also William TOREL, the goldsmith, probably the descendant of a moneyer at Norwich in the 11th century, the Viking (non-Norman) branch of the family. It was TOREL who made the effigies of King Henry III and Eleanor which are now in Westminster Abbey. Thanks to its superb technical execution this effigy of Queen Eleanor by Torel is one of the most successful of all the mediaeval royal tombs.

Conclusions

It would appear, therefore, that this was a family that emerged in England about 870 AD with the Great Viking Army, part of which followed ROLLO to Normandy, and became prominent Normans, taking part in the Battle of Hastings and being rewarded with the charge of Rochester Castle and other extensive land holdings thereafter. Probably due to death on the Crusades, the family may well have fallen from its exalted position so that by the 13th and 14th centuries they are found as landowners in South Norfolk and East Suffolk but with much diminished holdings. By the 16th century they had re-established themselves and by the 18th century, they re-emerged among the gentry. This then, is a very old established family, comparatively well recorded, and very English in pedigree.

What is the Bayeux Tapestry?

Before we begin it should be understood that it is not a Tapestry in the full sense of the word. It is an embroidery. It was constructed from eight separate pieces of linen which were joined to make up its length. It is approximately 70 meters long and half a meter wide. It is evident that at one stage it was even longer, probably as much as seven or eight meters are missing. This is a tragedy as it may have answered many of the questions that give cause for [historical] debate today. More will be said about this below.

It is generally agreed that Bishop Odo was the architect who commissioned the Bayeux Tapestry. It was designed and constructed reasonably soon after the battle in 1066. It was made without any shadow of doubt to celebrate and record for posterity the events leading up to the battle and its aftermath. Like so many artifacts, the Bayeux Tapestry survived through luck and endeavors of certain individuals and groups. Following its construction in the decade following the battle, the exact date or time it took to construct is not known, it was transported to Bayeux. Here we assume, it was put on display in the Church of Notre Dame, which was consecrated by Bishop ODO in 1077. We know that the Tapestry remained within the Cathedral walls for the next 400 years because an inventory of treasures catalogued it. Little is known or little interest was shown for almost another 300 years. It remained in the Cathedral.

Interest began to mount around 1750 in England where it was referred to in a work entitled the Palaeographia Britannicus. No attempt was made to investigate it further by the English. In 1792 the seeds of civil war had been sown. The Tapestry was in danger. The French revolution had begun. It was at this time that the very existence of this masterpiece held in the balance. But for the actions of one man, a Lambert Leonard LE FORESTIER, it would have been lost. The people of Bayeux now fighting for the Republic used cloth to cover their wagons. There was a shortage of cloth until somebody remembered a supply of it in the cathedral. It was removed and used to cover a wagon. When Lambert saw what was happening, he replaced the Tapestry with other cloth. The people of Bayeux, determined never to allow this to happen again, the city council set up a fine arts council to protect its treasures. It was just as well that they did because two years later in 1794 it was again to be cut up and used as decoration for a public holiday.

In 1803 it was removed under protest by Napoleon and transported to Paris. Napoleon used the Tapestry as inspiration for his planned attack on his natural enemy England. When this was aborted, it was returned to the people of Bayeux. Frightened of losing the Tapestry, the council kept the Tapestry on a scroll. It was shown only to eminent guests and dignitaries. This tended to stretch the embroidery but at least it was safe. It spent the next 15 years being moved around Bayeux for its own safety. In 1818, the existence of the Tapestry was causing great interest in England. To this end, an English draftsman was sent to Bayeux to inspect and catalogue it. He spent 2 years making an in-depth study of it. By inspecting every pin hole, he devised a program of restoration. In 1842, repairs were affected in Bayeux. It was removed from the scrolls and displayed for all to see under glass. The Tapestry was again removed in 1870 during the Franco-Prussian War but returned in its glory 2 years later. Here it remained on display until 1913 prior to the outbreak of World War 1 where it was again removed and stored in a safe place. The same action occurred during the second World War, it was removed for safe keeping and out of the hands of Nazi Germany who tended to collect art from conquered countries. On the 6th June 1944 a reverse invasion took place. This was known as D-Day. To avoid the Tapestry being damaged during the inevitable conflict, it was secretly moved to the Louvre in Paris where it was stored in their vaults. Following the surrender of Germany, the Tapestry was displayed again in Paris in all its glory. The following year it was returned to Bayeux under the jurisdiction of the municipal library. Today it is on display in Bayeux and can be viewed by the general public.

The Tapestry consists of 623 humans, 55 dogs, 202 horses, 41 ships, 49 trees, almost 2000 Latin words, over 500 mythical and non-mythical creatures such as birds and dragons, and at least 8 colors of yarn are discernible.

The missing piece

It is known that the Tapestry is not complete and that at least seven or eight meters of it are missing. Where and when this portion disappeared will never be known. Considering its checkered history it is necessary to postulate what might have been included in that section. The last part in existence depicts the defeat of the English. If you were deliberately attempting to remove a portion of the Tapestry, this would be a good place to do it, especially if you were French. This missing section would almost certainly have included William's consolidation of England and his coronation on Christmas Day 1066. His acceptance by London and the construction of the Tower of London. It would also have depicted the justification of him becoming king. An attempt was made to construct the final piece quite recently in England. It was, like this paragraph, speculation however. The simple fact is that we shall never know. Let us just be grateful that this relic has survived when so many others have not.

The above narrative on the Bayeux Tapestry was quoted from a web page constructed and written by Glen Ray Crack, Battle, East Sussex, U.K., <http://hastings1066.com/index.html>. That site pictures the entire tapestry in 35 sections.

NATHAN TERRILL CORRECTION

By #644 Freda M Schneider; 4808 Greenwood Lane NW; Rochester MN 55901 email: cpschneider@worldnet.att.net

Fall 2000 Trails, p. 1353 contains some info about Nathan TERRILL who fought in the American Revolution and married Dorothy PHELPS.

I recently got the pension file from the National Archives about Nathan & Dorothy. I find that I am in complete disagreement with the info about Nathan on page 1353.

In a pension file document dated 1832, Nathan declares his age to be 77. This will put his birth at 1755, not 1736/37.

Nathan TERRILL & Ruth BUCK probably had son in 1735/36 that they called Nathan, but Nathan b. 1735/36 and Nathan b. 1755 are not the same person.

I drew 2 conclusions: (1) Nathan TERRILL/Ruth BUCK ARE NOT the parents of the Revolutionary Nathan; & (2) the ancestral line of the Revolutionary Nathan is unknown.

I have been in touch with another researcher who agrees that the Revolutionary Nathan was born in 1755 and that his ancestry is unknown, or at least in doubt.

Anyone descended from Nathan & Dorothy should order this file from the National Archives. Although the handwriting is difficult to read, it is very interesting. My cost for the file was $37.00.

EDITOR'S NOTE: We thank Mrs. Schneider for sharing this record information with us. Without conscientious researchers like her, the errors of former researchers and publishers would be perpetuated. The job of an editor is to ensure that information is readable, not to verify the content of the material that crosses his desk.. This is why I continually admonish Trails readers that printed information should be used only to locate source records.

O. H. P. TERRELL

By Don C. Terrill

One of the more interesting characters that I have encountered is Oliver Hazard Perry TERRELL (1830-1922) of Orange Co. VA. As of 1860, he owned at least 33 slaves. There was an O. H. P. TERRELL who served in Co D 20th Battalion, VA Heavy Artillery, C.S.A. It had to be this Oliver as there were no other candidates with those same initials. After the war, under Executive Order of the President dated 29 May 1865 certain former Confederate Citizens were required to apply to the U. S. President for a pardon in order to have their U. S. citizenship restored. This included, inter alia, persons who had held Confederate commissions and persons whose property was valued at more than $20,000. O. H. P. TERRELL, age 35, of Orange Co. VA applied for a pardon in July 1865. He said that he was opposed to secession and gave no aid to the C.S.A. government except what was forced upon him by law. He had property valued at more than $20,000. (National Archives, Record Group M1003, "Case Files of Applications from Former Confederates for Presidential Pardons [Amnesty Papers], 1865--1867, Virginia. I'd say that Oliver had a lot of brass!!!

TERRILL VS CHAO

The last info that I received on the case that our Society President, Mr. Don C. Terrill has filed after being denied his right to display his Confederate Heritage during a celebration by other ethnic groups indicates that the case is still in court and has cost the Southern Legal Resource Center over $4,000.

The Southern Legal Resource Center is a non-profit SC Corporation. Donations to this organization are tax deductible. Other cases they are defending include: a Mobile AL man who carried a Confederate battle flag in a Veterans' day parade; taking a deposition from TX Governor Bill Daniel in the Texas plaques case; Mission St. Joseph Hospital in Asheville NC where employees and contractors are forbidden to wear Confederate flags; the Lawrence Co. AL school board over a Confederate Curriculum proposal; Dixie Outfitters Tee shirts and the right of students to wear them, etc.

You might be surprised to learn that Mr. H. K. Edgerton, the Chairman of the Board of Advisors of this organization is a black businessman. He is former NAACP supporter, and a descendant of a black Confederate Soldier. He has also suffered discrimination because of his African ancestry and again because of his southern ancestry.

TERRIL, IOWA

Info submitted by Don C. Terrill from <http://www.teril.com/history/>

The town of Terril, Dickenson Co., IOWA was actually founded by E. E. TAYLOR, but was named for Aaron B. TERRIL, the first recorded settler.

E. E. TAYLOR was b. in Tama County in 1862. In 1895, he bought nearly 1,000 acres of land and laid out the town of Terril. He was a self-made man. In addition to his land holdings, he was a stockholder in 3 banks; proprietor of the Traer, Iowa Star Clipper, claimed by the newspaper Blue Bok to be the best county weekly newspaper in the USA. He was a benevolent man who died following a long illness in January 27, 1943 at the age of 81.

AARON B. TERRIL

Aaron B. TERRIL was born in Lorain Co. OH, June 25, 1843, s/o Truman TERRIL & Amarilla HIGGINS, the former a native of CT and the latter of OH.

In 1852, the parents and two sons, including our subject, drove across the country from St. Joseph MO to CA, ultimately arriving at Diamond Spring. They drove 5 yoke of oxen and it required five and a half months for them to complete the trip. The father engaged in the grocery business at Diamond Spring, but in 1856, they were burned out, losing all of their property, and two weeks later, the mother died.

In 1857, Truman TERRIL and his son Aaron returned to the mid-west, settling near Coldwater, MI. In 1864, the father came to Iowa, where he embarked in the grocery business and was soon afterward joined by Aaron. Later, Truman TERRIL sold his interest in that business. He died in 1884 in Crawfordsville IN.

There were three children in the family. One died in infancy.

One son, Elbert TERRIL, enlisted for service in the Civil War as a member of Co. I, Forth MI Cavalry at Coldwater, for three years. He mustered in on August 29, 1862. He was a young man of 22 at that time [b. ca1840]. He was taken prisoner and paroled on December 31, 1862. He was transferred to the invalid corps May 1, 1864, and was discharged at Springfield IL on the 8th of July, 1865, at which time he was a member of the fifteenth Regiment Veteran Reserve Corps.

Aaron B. TERRIL accompanied his father on his moves until his lengthy residency in Coldwater, MI. He enlisted in August 7, 1862 at the age of nineteen in Co. I of the Fourth Cavalry. On the 29th of August, he went to the front on a three year enlistment. He was taken prisoner but was paroled January 26, 1863. He was discharged at Columbus OH 12 Jan 1864 because of a service connected disability. While in service, he participated in many major and minor engagements. The regiment took part in 90 engagements. This regiment captured Jefferson DAVIS at Irwinville GA May 10, 1865.

Aaron TERRIL took part in the following engagements: Stanford KY Oct 14 1862; Gallatin TN Nov 8; Lebanon TN Nov 9; Rural Hill TN Nov 15; Baird's Mill TN Nov 30; Hollow Tree Gap TN Dec 4; Wilson's Creek Road TN Dec 11; Franklin TN Dec 12; LaVergne TN Dec 26; Jefferson's Bridge TN Dec 27; Nashville Pike TN Dec 30; Stone River TN Dec 31; LaVergne TN Jan 1, 1863; Manchester Pike Jan 5; Harpeth River Shoals TN Jan 12; Cumberland TN Jan 13; Bradyville TN Jan 21. After this engagement, he was taken prisoner.

In October 1868, Aaron B. TERRIL joined his father in Manchester in a grocery business under the name of Terril & Son. This partnership continued about 3 years until H. A. GRANGER purchased the interest of the father. The firm continued as Terril & Granger for about 3 years. At that time, Aaron bought out his partner and conducted business along until 1878 when he turned his attentions to commercial pursuits and took up the study of medicine at the State University of Iowa. A short time after his graduation, he re-entered the grocery business and was an active merchant of Manchester for 18 years. He occupied a prominent and enviable position in commercial circles and had a substantial degree of success.

Aaron TERRIL was married three times. On Feb 7 1866, at Elyria OH, he married Louise E. TUTTLE, who was b. Mar 21 1840 in Cooperstown NY. She was a devout member of the Congregational Church and passed away in that faith Aug 30 1905. For many years prior to her death, she was a semi-invalid. The extreme devotion and unremitting care shown her by her husband and daughters were only equaled by her great and unselfish concern for her husband and children. She left 2 daughters, Lillian Louise and Blanche M. TERRIL.

Lillian Louise TERRIL passed away Mar 31, 1907. She was born in Coldwater MI and was brought to Iowa by her parents during her infancy. For 25 years, she was organist of the Congregational Church and Sunday School of Manchester. In 1908, her father gave a handsome pipe organ to Herrick Chapel of Iowa State College at Grinnell as a memorial to her.

As of 1914, Blanche M. TERRIL was attending Moody Institute in Chicago.

Mr. TERRIL married his second wife Mrs. Elizabeth CLEAVES Shaw on Mar 17 1909. She died July 5 of the same year.

On Nov 9, 1910, he married in Waterloo, IA to Mrs. Nellie HANCOCK Ranson, widow of George RANSON of Fortuna, CA.

Mr. TERRIL united with the Congregational Church April 3, 1870. He served as deacon for 25 years. For a number of years, he was a member of the Board of Trustees and chairman of the Finance Committee. He was superintendent of the Sunday School for fourteen years and for 13 years acted as President of the Delaware County Sunday School Association.

The town of Terril, Dickinson Co. Iowa was named for him as he owned land which is now the town site.

His political allegiance was given to the Progressive Party after a long connection with the Republican Party. He belonged to the Grand Army of the Republic and served 2 years as commander of the W. A. Morse Post.

It matters of citizenship, he was always as true and loyal to his country as when he followed the old flag upon southern battlefields. His entire career has been characterized by progress and by patriotism. He made a splendid record as a citizen, soldier, and as a businessman. I currently have, two TERRELL lines.

The first is Abigail TERRELL b c Aug 1644, bap. Aug 1644, 1st Church Milford, CT m. William TYLER. (Abigail & Roger; Roger; William; George).

The second, from LI, is Emma Elivira TIRRELL, b Jun 1843, Selden, LI, d. 6 Mar 1929, Patchogue, LI, m. Hiram S. SWEZEY. Her sister, Mary Ann TIRRELL b 28 Apr 1850, Lake Ronkonkoma, LI, d. 25 Jan 1925, Patchogue, LI, m. Edward Forrest SWEZEY, brother of my Hiram. Emma's and Mary Ann's parents were George TIRRELL and Marendy RULAND, m. 11 Feb 1842, probably in Manorville, LI.

I would appreciate any info you might be able to help with, particularly regarding the ancestry of my George TIRRELL. I also have some other Terrell links, primarily from my HALLOCK collateral lines. They may all be found on my GEDCOM at the LI Genealogy site.

My name is Robert Ed Barnes. I am researching my BARNES Family. Edward BARNES son of John Deaf BARNES married a TYRELL, Edward was born about 1765 in North Carolina he married about 1785/88. I do not have any information on this unknown TYRELL /TERRILL.

I have found seven children of Edward and TYRELL /TERRILL. They had a son named Ter-rill BARNES born 1793 in North Carolina; died after 1850 in Tennessee. He married BARNES born 1803; died in Cumberland County, Tennessee.

This unknown Tyrell/Terrill may have died before 1800 I am at a lose end can not find any information on the person can you help? I wish I had more information. My Barnes line is through Thomas BARNES and Elizabeth HARRINGTON

Thomas is the sixth child of Edward he was born 9 March 1804 in Wilkes County, North Carolina. Robert Ed Barnes; 4737 Kirchoff Ln.; Imperial, MO 63052; Phone: 636-942-2662

Hi Don,

I saw your postings in the TERRILL GenForum and decided that you had probably researched a larger territory than most of those I saw as I scanned a couple of pages in GenForum. I thought that you might be able to help to me.

First I am looking for more information on the following:

1880 Keokuk Co., Iowa

TERRILL, J. W. 28 b. IA (Is he a James or John or??)

TERRILL, M. P. 26 b. IA (I feel sure that she is the Pheba STORY below)

TERRILL, E. A. 3 b.IA (I feel sure that he is the Ernest A. below.

TERRILL, Lewis W. 20 or 2? b. IL (can't read my cousins writing!!!)

I am certain that the 3 year old child is the same person as follows in the 1900 Webster Co., NE. census.

TERRELL, Ernest A. 23 b. Mar 1877 (age fits) IA father b. PA. mother b. OH

TERRELL, Myrtle M. 19 b. Dec 1883 KS

Marriage record.- 18 Jan 1899 of Webster Co., NE. Ernest TIRRELL age 21 (his father- J. TIRRELL and mother is Pheba STORY) married to Myrtle BOYCE

I don't have Ernest for 1910 yet but the 1920 lists his father as born in PA.

and mother as born in IA. Your help will be most appreciated. Please let me hear from you. Kathy Johnson; 11564 W. Tulane Pl.; Littleton, Co., 80127; 303-978-0271; UserKat28@cs.com

Kathy
Earnest's parents were Jeremiah Wallace TERRILL and Marilla Phoebe STORY. I have Earnest TERRILL's ancestry back 4 more generations. I will mail it to you (USPS) using the address which you furnished. I would appreciate any data that you may wish to share regarding Earnest's descendants. Don C. Terrill (with the Terrell Society of America)

Hi Don,
Here I am again, on a different TERRILL/TERRELL family or group.
I was born in Grayson Co., VA., and doing research of my Grayson Co., VA., families. I know of the REEVES families and in researching my SEXTON families there, I knew of the widow of Timothy TERRILL/TERRELL marrying a COX. As I also have COX ancestry the surname TERRILL/TERRELL is of interest to me, and there is some sort of link of TERRILL/TERRELL to the MAY/MAYS family, I am sure, but I don't know how.

Benjamin SEXTON, brother to my SEXTON ancestor, lived in Grayson Co., late 1700s early 1800s moved to Bath Co., KY, his son John had a daughter Nancy who married a Timothy TERRILL/TERRELL, I have nothing on them.
The SEXTON and the TERRILL/TERRELL families appear a lot in the same migratory patterns.
Was the Timothy TERRELL/TERRILL who left a widow Elizabeth TERRILL/TERRELL who married a James COCK/COX (later always spelled COX) a brother to the Obediah TERRILL/TERRELL???? Kathy Johnson UserKat28@cs.com

Kathy,
I have an Elizabeth SEXTON who married Timothy TERRELL ca. 1772 in Virginia. He died before 1783, probably in North Carolina. On 15 May 1782 at ____, the widow Elizabeth married James COX. I have the Terrell ancestry back to England, which I am sending you by USPS, but nothing on the SEXTON or COX ancestry. Don C. Terrill (with the Terrell Society of America)

I have found some info on my grandfather, William Luther TERRELL. He was born, Dec.29,1879, place unknown, he died Dec.1, 1959, Odessa Texas, Ector County. He was survived by 3 sons, Dennis Lavon TERRELL, Mannon Gerald TERRELL, J. T. Jake TERRELL and by 2 daughters; Reba TERRELL and Luther Laredo TERRELL. Hopefully this will hook up with something. Bclark6007@aol.com

Regarding your 2 February e-mail on William Luther TERRELL, I have no firm data. A possible candidate is William L. TERRELL, son of Alan Brinsfield TERRELL (b. 1858). William is born in Marshall Co, Ala., and in the 1880 census he is shown as 5 months old (as of April or May 1880). You need to do further research on your grandfather. His death certificate should list his place of birth and his parents. He should also be in the 1930 census (due out in May 2002). If he seems to be a good match for the William L. TERRELL I have described, I have ancestry information on Alan Brinsfield TERRELL. Don C. Terrill

Dan:
Could you tell me how to get your newsletter, cost, etc.?

Do you have David TERRELL b. 1729 Orange County, Virginia; d. 14 Feb. 1805? Married 19 June 1749 to Sarah JOHNSON. His parents were David TERRELL and Agotha CHILES, David d. 1757. His parents was William TERRELL and Susannah WATERS and his parents was William TERRELL and Martha (last name unknown). David Boudreau BoudreauDa@aol.com

My line descends from Thaddeus and Martha TRUSNER TERRELL, both born in KY in early 1800's. They were married in IN 1836 and are both buried in Washington County, IN. I've had no luck finding info on their parents or siblings. I believe Martha may have had a brother named Jacob, because he lived in Washington County also and is buried near where they are. Jacob's first son was named Thaddeus and Thaddeus and Martha's first son was named Jacob, this may be coincidence though. I recently received data that Thaddeus is believed to be the son of Thomas and Nancy BLACKERBY TERRELL but the info I have found on them says they were married in 1815. Thaddeus was born in 1807. Does anyone have any info that could help me out with this? Kendra Floyd; 5423 East State Road 160; Salem, Indiana 47167; kendra@blueriver.net

I am trying to find a g-g-g-greatmother. Her name was Catherine TERRELL and she married a Joseph ENOCH. One of their daughters was Elizabeth ENOCH married Joseph SHOEMAKER. Joseph SHOEMAKER had a second wife named Catherine TERRELL.

This is a mystery to our family. Two women with the same name. One a second wife and the other the mother of his third wife. Any help would be appreciated. Shirley Cogar misty-blue@dragonbbs.com

My only connection to the TERRELL Family is through the BASS line and it's distant, indeed! My great grandfather Bass' sister, Eliza Amelia BASS, married Josh GOODMAN and one of their daughters (Minnie?) GOODMAN married a TERRELL. Alice Crawford Smith; 310-A Windermere; Alexandria, LA 71303; 318-561-8237; email: Sav610@aol.com

Kaite Bales - Minnie GOODMAN married Will TERRELL. (these are Grant TERRELL's parents) and Herman TERRELL's parents. Leona SWANSON bought the land and built a very nice home there. The old house still stands behind her house. I have been out there taking some pictures not long ago. It's on the Eight Mile Road (or at least that is what we call it). It's only about 15 miles west of Alexandria (going to Elmer). I remember Ms. Minnie (as we called her). She had diabetes; and, she lost a leg because of it. My mother took her to town to get it taken care of. I remember as a kid that they buried the leg. I will have to ask my mother more details about this too.

Searching for Moses TERRELL and Nancy Martin TERRELL. Moses TERRELL was my Great Great Grandfather. My Great Great Grand Parents were John TERRELL and Sarah YOUNG. My Great Grand Parents were Griffin Ford TERRELL and Mary Jane JONES. My Grand Parents were John William TERRELL and Martha Lou Ella ALBRITTON. Billy Hewitt - b_hewitt@bellsouth.net

Looking for information on Linda CRANNELL Terrell and family. I have her married to a James A. TERRELL. Children :Jame [Jane/James? dfb], Sidney, Carol, Edward, and Lillie, born between 1855-1870. Would like to have anything you would share with me on them and there familys. Nancy Moffitt , upstate NY allcountry0309@hotmail.com

I found the following: In the 1830 Hall Co. census, John TERRELL lived alone and owned 4 slaves. In 1832, John TERRELL and nine family members lived on the Chestatee River and had an improvement in Lumpkin Co. Does anyone know which John TERRELL these refer to? Becky Craig - boo266@bellsouth.net

Samuel Eli THAMES and Lavada Viola TERRELL were my moms parents. Their parents were John C. TERRELL and Sarah Elizabeth HUIE. I just returned from the HUIE reunion several weeks ago and visited several of the cemeteries in the area. I will up load pictures when I return from my trip to California. James Edwards - jmorgan.ed@verizon.net

Looking for any information on Ellen TERRIL who married Thomas BURKE in Ireland. They were my GGGrandparents. All I know about them is that they came from Ireland, no idea from what part. I have my GGrandfather's Death Certificate. He was Daniel Frances BURKE born in 1835 in Lawrence Co., Ohio and died in a town called Wellston, Ohio. Sure would like any or more information on these people if anyone out there could be of some help, I sure would appreciate it. Polly Todd - ptodd@centurytel.net

Am looking for more information the following extended family Malissa Ann CLOUD m. unknown MORGAN & Burrell RUSHING on 11/4/1851 in Bienville Parish, LA. She was the daughter of William CLOUD and Rebecca ROE.

I am looking for any info on, or family of Pamela Rae Sally TERRELL. Born abt. 1949, possibly in Michigan.

The only info I have on her is what she put on the birth certificate for her son, and some confusing info from his adoptive family. His name was Gardner Emerson TERRELL, born Nov. 1968 in Flint, Michigan. The address on the birth certificate is 7026 Mt. Morris, Otisville (Flint), MI. Other info on birth cert. is she was 19 yrs old and from MI. The family says she was from Florida. Went to MI from FL with his "aunt" Sandy(?). The father is listed as Jack E STEVENS, age 24 (born abt. 1944), and from Georgia. This man is my husband and I am hoping to find info for medical reasons. Would also like to know family history, possibly any relatives. Any help or info would be greatly appreciated. Tracy Jackson; 8130 Greyling Cir.; Youngstown, FL 32466-3363
