Preface

Having a taste for genealogical matters, and having collected a considerable amount of information concerning the family herein treated, I feel that an acceptable service would be rendered to the greater family if this outline be printed and made available. Every caution has been taken to make it correct, to the best of human ability to interpret records and manuscripts drawn upon. The accounts of many individuals have been compared and verified by the abbreviated copies of original Friends records being made available through the publication by William Wade Hinshaw of the "Encyclopedia of Quaker Genealogy." More complete statements of facts are to be found in these volumes.

Since many inquiries to identity and location follow such a publication, it is again requested that all who possess such information promptly convey the same to the author. It is possible that one name may connect a line heretofore unidentified, and enable us to present a much more comprehensible report.

It has been difficult to so condense existing data that the cost of publication did not exceed its utility to many of those of the greater family who are less genealogically inclined. If even this amount of material finds distribution into widely diverging lines of descent, the publication will have been justified. I regret that in many instances the arrangement of family lines has been altered because of my desire to include a large amount of material which appeared following the pre-publication announcement of the book.

The publication of this book would not have been possible without the aid of those interested in the history of this family. To those who have so untiringly given their time, the greater family is indeed indebted. I gratefully acknowledge the assistance of Mrs. Daisy Allen and of Miss Margaret Trowbridge in assembling data and arranging and proofreading charts.

JOHNSTON OF THAT ILK & CASKIEBEN

1550 – A BLUE SHIELD, CHARGED WITH A BEND BETWEEN A STAG'S HEAD, ERASED IN CHIEF, AND THREE CROSS CROSSLETS FITCHY IN BASE, SILVER. (AS FOUND IN THE KERR ARMORIAL, WHICH DATES ABOUT 1550)

1595 – THE SEAL OF JOHN JOHNSTON OF THAT ILK, WHICH SEAL, IN RED WAX WAS ATTACHED TO “CASKIEBEN'S ACQUITTANCE OF THE PRYCE OF JHNSTON, JUNE 7, 1595”. (THREE BAGS, ONE STAG AND ONE CROSS CROSSLET)

1630 – THREE STAG'S HEADS ERASED, APPEAR IN THE CHIEF IN PLACE OF THE ONE FOUND IN THE KERR ARMORIAL (SHIELD BLUE HEAD AND CROSS CROSSLETS IN SILVER)

The following items were taken largely from “The Family of JOHNSTON of that Ilk, and of Caskieben” by Alexander Johnston, Jr., Writer to His Majesty’s signet. Published Edinburg 1832. Printed by William Burness.

“The two families of Johnston of that Ilk and of Caskieben, and Johnston of that Ilk in Annandale, long disputed the title to the Chiefship of the name. The pretensions of the latter proceeded on the assumption that Stephen de Johnston, the founder of the family of Caskieben, was a cadet of the Annandale branch while the Johnstons of Caskieben always maintained that he was the head or chief of the name. On this point, Douglas, in the Peerage of Scotland, merely says, “There were two families of this surname, who both designed themselves by the title “of that Ilk,” viz., those of Annandale in the south and Caskieben in the north; but we cannot pretend to connect them with one another.” “In the Baronage, however, in treating of the family of Caskieben, he says, “they have been long designed “de eodem” or of that Ilk, which appellation generally denotes head or chief of a clan.” We shall therefore, without dwelling longer on this question, proceed with our account of the family of Caskieben, beginning with Stephen, its supposed founder, who, it is said, arrived in the north in the time of King David Bruce, who resigned from the year 1329, but the date of this event has never been exactly settled.”

- (1) STEPHEN de JOHNSTON (anciently spelt de Johnestoune or Johnestoun and afterwards Johnestoun or Johnstoun) was a man of great learning, which was so rare in those days that he was honoured with the title of “The Clerk” – a designation to which the clergy alone was considered to be entitled. “For trouble wherein he fell in his own countries, he cam into the north pairt of Scotlande, and was pleasantlie received by the Earl of Marr, to whom hee became secretarie.” Stephen married Margaret, daughter and heiress of Sir Andrew Garrioch, of Caskieben in Aberdeenshire, Knight, by whom he got a large estate, consisting of the lands of Johnston, (so named after him). Caskieben became then the chief title of his family; and of him all the Johnstons in the north are said to have been descended. The date of Stephen’s death is unknown, but on that event he became succeeded by,
- (2) JOHN de JOHNSTON of Caskieben. He married Marjory, daughter of Leighton of Ulysseshaven or Usan, an ancient family in Angus, and in her right succeeded to the lands of Inverton. He lived to a very advanced age, and dying in the reign of King James the First of Scotland was succeeded by his son,
- (3) GILBERT de JOHNSTON of Caskieben. He got (1430) from his kinsman, Henry de Leighton, a lease for payment of an yearly rent of one merk Scots. The lands were those now known as Bishop’s or Little Clinterty, in the parish of St. Macher. He married, first, Elizabeth Vans or Vaus, the daughter of the Laird of Manis, in Aberdeenshire, “ane man of great name and estimation for the tyme,” by whom he had one son, Alexander, his successor, and three daughters. Upon his death, which took place previous to the year 1481, the succession opened to his son,
- (4) ALEXANDER de JOHNSTON, who in the reign of James II got his lands of Caskieben, which were formerly held in the Earle of Mar as superiors, erected into a free barony. He married Agnes, daughter of Alexander Gloster of that Ilk and of Glack, a powerful in the district of Garioch, in the shire of Aberdeen. He was succeeded by his eldest son,
- (5) WILLIAM JOHNSTON of that Ilk. He married, first, Margaret, daughter of Meldrum of Fyvie, “the greatest barron for the tyme in the North pairt of Scotlande. This gentlewoman buire to William ane son, called Jeames Gilbert, who “was provydit to nithing, because his father was slain on the field of Floudoun in his tender infancy, and so he possest nothing of Caskieban but the bear name of Johnstoun alenarlie.” William Johnston of that Ilk, having accompanied King James IV on his expedition into England with a large body of retainers, fell by the side of his royal master on the field of Flodden, 1513, and he was succeeded by his eldest son,
- (6) JAMES JOHNSTON of that Ilk, who married Clara, daughter of Barclay of Gartlie, in Aberdeenshire, and had 6th September 1521, a charter under the Great Seal from King James V., “Jacobo Johnstoun de eodem, et Clarae Barclay ejus sponsae, &c., terrarum dominicalium de Johnstoun, Inglistoun, &c., jacen, in baronis de Johnestoun, in vicecomitatu de Aberdene.” James died in the beginning of the year 1548, partly, it is believed of grief, occasioned by the death of his son, and was succeeded by his grandson, George.
- (7) WILLIAM JOHNSTON, the eldest son of the last mentioned James, married Margaret, daughter of Alexander Hay of Dalgaty, by whom she had one son, George. This William, a loyal and gallant gentleman, fell as his grandfather had done in the cause of his country on the field of Pinkie, 1547.
- (8) GEORGE JOHNSON. In George’s lifetime, the already extensive possessions of the family received considerable additions. He was served heir-portioner to Alexander Hay of Dalgaty, his grandfather; and also heir-portioner to William Hay of Dalgaty, his uncle. He had further, a charter from James VI of the lands of Boyndis, in the shire of Aberdeen. He married the Honourable Christian Forbes, fourth daughter of William, seventh Lord Forbes, “who buir to him ane fair bearn tyme, whereof thirteen came to mature age, six thereof some, and seven daughters,” viz: John, his successor, Gilbert, George, Thomas, Arthur, and William. A daughter of William became actively interested in the new “Quaker movement.” “Among those who labored in the Lord’s work, Elizabeth Johnston, daughter of a Physician, Dr. William Johnston, because a ‘succourer of many’ in promoting their spiritual progress.” (Janney – History of Friends, Vol. II, pg. 143). It was she, no doubt, who converted her nephew, father of William and John, to whom this account progresses. The Addendum contains further comment concerning Arthur Johnson.

- (9) JOHN JOHNSON married, first, Janet, daughter of Turing of Foveran, by whom he had two sons and two daughters. His eldest son, George, succeeded him and carried the title ‘of that Ilk’ and all possessions. With him we leave all titles. John married, secondly, Katherine, daughter of ‘William Lundie (Lundy) of that Ilk’ one of the most ancient in Scotland. It is by this alliance that all the existing branches of the family of ‘Lundie (latin for Lundy) of that Ilk’ was descended of the royal family of that kingdom through Robert, the son of ‘WILLIAM THE LION’, (which verbal tradition in this country has often corrupted into ‘William the Conqueror’) and brother of King Alexander the Second; who having married the daughter and heiress, designed himself Robert de Lundie; in consequence of this descent the family of Lundie were, by a special permission of King Charles the Second, anno 1679, authorized to carry the royal arms of Scotland on their shield. (R.R. Stodard in his Scottish Arms, 1370-1678, states: “The head of the Lundins sat in parliament 1488, and Walter and his son, William, from 1560 till 1590. Robert de Londonius is repeatedly called, in crown charter ‘filius’ by King William, and ‘frater’ by Alexander II). The following entry occurs in the Index of Retours. It is the service of the Lady of Johnston’s (Katherine Lundie’s) brother, as heir to their father: “Mali 6 1600. Joannes Lundy ‘heeres,’ Magistri Gulielmi Lundy de Eodem, patris,” in the lands of Lundy &c., in the county of Fife. John had by his second wife two sons and two daughters. Thomas of Craig etc.
- (10) THOMAS JOHNSON of Craig, eldest son by Katherine Lundis, his second wife, married Mary, daughter of Irvine of Kingeausie, by whom he had four sons and three daughters: Thomas (Jr.) of Craig died unmarried. William of Craig, an officer in the army, married in Holland, but died without issue. John of Bishoptown, who carried on the line of the family. The fourth son was JAMES who was “provydit to nothing but to bear name of Johnston.” James was a litster in Aberdeen, of whom later. A daughter married Charles Dun of Cordyce, merchant in Aberdeen, who was, by an act of Parliament anno 1662, fined the sum of 2400 Scots and to that extent excepted from the act of indemnity passed on the restoration of Charles II. (see Reg. Mag. Sig. Lib., 57 No. 466, ibid 59, No. 57). The Line of descent was carried by John Johnston of Bishoptown, who married Margaret, daughter of Alexander Alexander of Auchmull, merchant in Aberdeen, (who was commissioner to parliament for the burgh of Aberdeen anno 1667).
- (11) JAMES JOHNSON, who was “provydit to nothing”, became a litster in Aberdeen. At this period it was usual to bring up the younger sons of Scottish gentlemen to mechanical employments with a view to the encouragement of trade and manufactures. The Litster or dyer society was one of the oldest of the town. (see Kennedy’s Annals of Aberdeen) James Johnston married Jean Oglvie, by whom he had three sons and two daughters, viz: WILLIAM, JOHN, ALEXANDER, Mary, and Jean. William, John, and Alexander Johnston sailed to Virginia on a vessel belonging to Charles Dun, 1696. (see Cameron, Landings and Sailings, Edinburgh, 1842, Vol. 2, page 246). The names of the children of James Johnston are found in St. Nicholas’ Parish Record. Whether he is the “James Johnston” of Quaker records is not known. The Burgh Records of Aberdeen list James’ birth, 1656, and his marriage, 1674. The date of James’ death is not known. He was living in 1704. Mrs. Jean Ogilvie Johnson died March 1716 (Extract, Burgh Records of Aberdeen). Fiske, in “Old Virginia and her Neighbors,” states (page 49): Sir William Berkeley, son of Sir Maurice Berkeley (member of London Company), had an older brother, Lord Berkeley of Stratton, who was a favorite of Charles II, and one of the group of Proprietors to whom the King granted Carolina in 1663. Sir William Berkeley lived in retirement on the rural estate of GREENSPRING, near Jamestown . . . The evils of Charles’ mis-government soon began to show themselves. A swarm of Place-hunters beset the King who carelessly gave them appointments in Virginia or recommended them to Berkeley for places. Judges, Sheriffs, Revenue Collectors, and Parsons were thus appointed without reference to fitness . . . etc. It is supposed that through some such arrangement, Alexander Alexander, who was commissioner to parliament, so directed his nephews, who, as the family properties passed to the older male descent, were “provydit to nothing, and so possess nothing of Caskieben but the bear name of Johnston alenarlie.”

ASHLEY OF WINBOURNE ST. GILES

The Ashleys came originally from Wiltshire, where they possessed the manor of Ashley, at a very early period. Benedict Ashley, of Ashley, living in the reigns of Henry II and Edward I, was the great-great-grandfather of:

ROBERT ASHLEY, who flourished under Henry IV and his two immediate successors. He married Egidia, only daughter and heiress of Sir John Hamelyn by Joan Plecy, by whom he acquired the manor of Winbourne St. Giles, in the county of Dorset, and had a son,

EDMUND ASHLEY, living temp. Edward IV, who married Margaret, daughter of Robert Turgis, and was father of,

HUGH ASHLEY, of Winbourne St. Giles, who died 1493 leaving by Elizabeth, daughter of Raynold Walwyn of Sussex, a daughter and a son successor,

HENRY ASHLEY, Esq., of Winbourne, who married Radegan, daughter of Robert Gilbert of Somersetshire, and had Henry (Sir), his heir, and Anthony of Damerham who married Dorothy, daughter of John Lyte, Esq., of Lytes Carey, in Somersetshire, and had Anthony of whom later,

SIR HENRY ASHLEY, knight of Winbourne St. Giles, born in 1548, gentleman pensioner to Queen Elizabeth; married Anne, daughter of Lord Burgh, and had, with four daughters, three sons, who died without issue, and the family estates passed to his cousin,

SIR ANTHONY ASHLEY, of Winbourne St. Giles, who sat in several parliaments and was highly distinguished by the favor of Queen Elizabeth. He was secretary to her council of war, and received the honour of knighthood for his services at the capture of Calais; the account of which event he brought over to her majesty. He was subsequently secretary to the privy council in the reign of James I, and was created a Baronet in 1622. Sir Anthony married first, Jane, relict of Thomas Cokaine, Esq., of Okeover, in Stratfordshire, by whom he had an only daughter and heiress, ANNE, who marrying Sir John Cooper, bart., conveyed the Ashley estates to the Cooper family.

The following is the line of SIR JOHN COOPER: JOHN COOPER, Esq. died in 1495; RICHARD COOPER, Esq. married Jane, daughter of Sir John Kingswell of Sydmonton, co., Haute, and purchased the Manor of Paulett, 1531. He died in 1566; SIR JOHN COOPER, son and heir, born in 1552, married Margaret, or Martha, daughter of Anthony Skutt, of Stanton Drew, co. Somerset, Esq. He was M.P. for Whitechurch, co. Haute, 1586, and died in 1610; SIR JOHN COOPER, First Baronet of Rockbourne, co. Haute, son and heir, married twice. He married ANNE, daughter and heir of Sir Anthony Ashley of Winbourne St. Giles, co. Dorset, secretary at war to Queen Elizabeth, was the mother of his heir. He was created a Baronet in 1622 and he died, March 23, 1631.

His lordship, Sir Anthony Ashley, had, previously to his elevation to the earldom, been created, in 1661, Baron Ashley, in accordance with a stipulation in his father's marriage settlement, that if the family ever attained the peerage, their title should be that of Ashley. Anne Ashley and Sir John Ashley-Cooper (by the above agreement) were the parents of the celebrated statesman, Sir Anthony Ashley-Cooper, Earl of Shaftesbury.

ANTHONY ASHLEY, FIRST EARL OF SHAFTESBURY, son and heir, born in 1621, inherited a very large estate from his maternal grandfather, yet had the education of a constitutional lawyer at Gray's Inn, from whence he was called from speculation to action in the parliament of 1640, for Tweekesbury, at the early age of Nineteen. On the restoration he was named a commissioner for the trial of the regicides and was created BARON ASHLEY of Winbourne St. Giles, 1661. In 1670 he became a member of the administration called "The Cabal" in which he was a lord of the treasury and chancellor of the exchequer, and on the resignation of the Lord Keeper Bridgeman, November 1672, he was constituted lord high chancellor of England, having been created, April preceding, BARON COOPER of Pawlett, and Earl of Shaftesbury. He married first, Margaret, daughter of Thomas Lord Coventry; secondly, Frances, daughter of David Cecil, third Earl of Exeter; thirdly, August 30, 1655, at St. Paul's Covent Garden, MARGARET, daughter of William (Spencer), Second Baron Spencer of Wormleighton by Penelope (first daughter of Henry Wristesley, Third Earl of Southampton) who delivered him two daughters). His son and heir was by the second lady. The date of the death of MARGARET is not known. She was living when he was created, 20 April 1661, BARON ASHLEY OF Winbourne St. Giles. In 1662 Lord Ashley and others, being apprised of the excellent soil of this country, united and formed a project for planting a colony on it. Charles II granted them all the lands from Lucke Island (southern Virginia) to the river, Saint Matthias, Florida, and extending so west to the Pacific Ocean, which embraced almost the entire "Southern States" of today. Of this immense region the kind constituted them absolute lords and proprietors.

These absolute lords were, by their charter, empowered to enact and publish any laws or constitutions which they judged proper and necessary; to constitute counties, baronies, and colonies within the province; to erect courts of judicature, and appoint civil judges, magistrates, and officers; to erect forts, castles, cities, and towns; to make war; to levy, muster, and train men to the use of arms, and in cases of necessity, to exercise the martial law; to confer titles of honour, to build harbors, make ports, and enjoy customs and subsidies, which they, with the consent of the freemen, would impose on goods loaded and unloaded, reserving the fourth part of the gold and silver ore found within the province of the crown.

In 1672 the King, by the advice of Shaftesbury, set forth a declaration dispensing with the penal law against nonconformists of every description, and indulging to Protestant dissenters the public, and to Catholics the private, exercise of their religious worship. Shaftesbury was made chancellor chiefly for the purpose of affixing the great seal to this declaration, which the present Lord Keeper Bridgeman had refused to do. The House of Commons remonstrated against this exercise of prerogative, and after an inefficient struggle Charles recalled the declaration and broke the seals with his own hand. From that moment Shaftesbury declared that the king had forsaken himself, and deserved to be forsaken. Accordingly, he promoted the test act in the House of Commons, and stood forth in the House of Lords as the leader of the Protestant party. From so unexpected a change, his removal from office was a matter of course, 1673. Shaftesbury, whose boast it was to 'ride in the whirlwind and direct the storm,' utterly embroiled the kingdom by persuading Monmouth to return to England, from his exile in Holland, without license from his father, and by his opposition to the government. At length he found it necessary to fly from his house in Aldersgate Street and take refuge in the suburbs of the city. Tradition is that his two daughters married brothers by the name of "MASSIE," who came to Greenspring to enjoy public positions in the colony of the Lords Proprietors. At length, Shaftesbury fled to Holland, where he landed in November 1682. Here, while pondering the consequences of former intrigues, he was seized with the 'gout in his stomach' and expired, 21 January, 1683.

In 1729 all of the Proprietors but Lord Carteret sold to the king for the sum of $45,000 their whole right and title in N.C. One of the Lords Proprietors was an English barrister, John Cotton, Esq. of the Middle Temple, London. He represented the interests originally granted to Lord Ashley. He was the grandson of the Rev. Thomas Cotton, father of Lady Lisle. In the time of his proprietorship many of his kinsmen were induced to emigrate. It is possible that the Massies were so influenced, but I have been unable to find any record of their marriage to Lord Ashley's daughters. It is probable that in the troublous times that the marriage was not given publicity, and that they were privately married and hurried away to their assured positions of responsibility in their father's Proprietary government. Tradition is that the older children of these Massie marriages were daughters, one of whom married William Johns(t)on, and the other married John Johns(t)on.

“The Society of Friends in Virginia attained its most prosperous condition from about 1775-1780, but rapidly began to decline. Many of the younger people dropped out or were dismissed, and many of the members migrated to more fertile lands. Quakers were generally regarded with disfavor in the South, on account of their firm stand against slavery, besides they were at an economic disadvantage as compared with their slave-holding neighbors. Hence, those who moved into the Northwest Territory, where freedom from slavery was guaranteed, were mostly Quakers, and their prevailing purpose was to avoid the environments of slavery, while but few of those who remained in Virginia were Quakers, many of them were slave holders.” –
 Jesse Bryan

CAMPBELL & BEDFORD COUNTIES:

When the region of Campbell & Bedford Counties began settling up, the settlers coming from the northeast crossed the James River near the site of Lynchburg, but fording was difficult and dangerous and could only be accomplished when the water was low. In 1757, John Lynch established a ferry across the river, from the mouth of Blackwater Creek, on the land of Edward Lynch, to Micajah Moorman’s land at the foot of the bluff on the north side (where Amherst bridge now stand). This place was known as Lynch’s Ferry until Lynchburg was founded.

CENTER M. M. – Clinton Co., Ohio:

Center M. M., located 3 miles northwest of Wilmington was set up on the 7th month, 1807. A mtg. for worship appears to have been held since about 1805. The new M.M. was set off from Miami M.M., by authority of Redstone Quarterly Mtg., Pa.

ELK CREEK MTG. – Clinton Co., Ohio:

Elk Creek Mtg. was not a M. M. It was a preparative mtg. and a mtg. for worship. It belonged to Center M.M. as did Chester Mtg. for Worship. They were all in Clinton Co., Ohio.

FAIRFIELD M.M. – Highland Co., Ohio:

Fairfield M.M., located near the town of Leesburg, was opened the 8th of the 7th month, 1807. It was set off from Miami M.M. by authority of Redstone Quarterly Mtg., Pa. A preparative mtg. had been established at Fairfield about 2 years prior to the opening of the M.M.

MIAMI M.M. – Warren Co., Ohio:

Miami M.M. was located on the Little Miami River. It was the first to be established in southwestern Ohio. It was the center from which Quakerism spread over western Ohio and throughout Indiana. The settlement of Friends in this section about the present sight of Waynesville, began in the closing years of the 18th century. A meeting for worship was established about 1801. Miami M. M. was opened 1803, by permission of Redstone Quarterly Mtg. held at Westland, Pa.

Prior to the establishment of Miami M.M. the Friends moving into this section left their certificates at Westland, Washington Co., Pa. In 1802, Westland minutes record the receipt of nine certificates from Bush River, S.C. with the statement that the persons named were settled at Little Miami.

NEW KENT CO. & HANOVER CO.:

In 1727, New Kent Co. was divided into two counties: New Kent & Hanover. That is the reason why some of the Johnsons lived in Hanover Co. without having removed from their original homesteads. The part which became Hanover Co. was the part known as St.

Paul’s Parish. The rest remained as New Kent Co. Cedar Creek M.M. included the particular mtgs. at Cedar Creek, Genict, & Caroline, and perhaps others.

JOHN JOHNSON, immigrant to Green Springs, Va., appears by unconfirmed, but accepted tradition to have married Lucretia Massie, grand-daughter of Lord Ashley, first Earl of Shaftesbury, & Lord Proprietor of the early Southern Colonies. They lived at Green Springs, and he and his brother, William, "with many others of the hgher class," in the vicinity, became Friends and built up Camp Creek M.M. and the meetings compsing it. JOHN JOHNSTON entered 400 acres of land in Henrico Co. in 1718 and in the same year was appointed overseer of Swamp Mtg. in the same county. In 1736 a "Select Mtg." called Cedar Creek was set up, near Montpelier, Hanover Co., with JOHN JOHNSTON as a delegated member. Cedar Creek became a monthly meeting in 1739. JOHN and wife and grandson, JOHN, received on cert. from Cedar Crest M.M., Va. 1766 (S.R.). (1805-11-30). "SQUIRE" JAMES JOHNSON settled in Highland Co. as early as 1806 when he was elected Justice of the peace. He was afterwards County Representative.

"At the request of Camp Creek Peppy. Mtg., ELIJAH JOHNSON is apd. an overseer of that particular meeting." (1782-6-8-). ELIJAH JOHNSON reported that Camp Creek Mtg. had raised their proportion of money for the support of Ann Moore, 1786-1-14. ELIJAH JOHNSON informed the mtg. by writing that he was apd by Camp Creek to attend the M.M. last month but was prevented by a sickness in the family, which is satisfactory. (1792-4-14).

SARAH JOHNSON, widow of Charles Johnson, equests cert. for herself and three sons: James, Thos., & Robert., on which this mtg. appoints Ashley & James Johnson and John Haris to make the necessary inquiry into their lives, conversation, and affais, and if nothing appears to hinder, draw a cert. & produce to next m.m. for approbation & signing.

MARGERIE JOHNSON dis. for m.o.u. and contrary to consent of parents. (Henrico m.m. 1741-1-2).

BENJAMIN JOHNSON m. Camp Creek, Va. Mary Moorman, BENJAMIN & MARY (members of Cedar Creek M.M. Hanover Co.) removed to Bedford Co. 1757. BENJAMIN & MARY JOHNSON settled on Ivy Creek, Campbell Co., about 1763. BENJAMIN died 1769. Mary and her second husband, John Miller, lived in Lynchburg, where John kept a tavern. BENJAMIN JOHNSON was a representative to the M.M. and to the Virginia Yearly Meeting. (While the children of BENJAMIN JOHNSON'S wife (Mary Moorman Johnson Miller) by her second marriage do not properly belong in this chart – a lady who mothered ten Johnson children is very nearly a "Johnson." The children of Mary Moorman Johnson Miller: 1 – Susan, m. Dr. Zebulon Baldwin; Anslem Lynch, from whom descended Miss Juliet Fauntleroy. 2 – Sallie, m. Thomas wyatt and was the ancestress of Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, Lady Astor, etc. 3 – Pleasant Miller, who married a dau. of Governor Blount of Tenn., and was the ancestor of Judge Stephens of Calif.).

THOMAS was dis. for following the vain fashiions of the world. 10-21-1771.

“When a boy of 15, ASHLEY JOHNSON became a soldier in the Revolutionary War, having joined one of the Regiments of Va. His uncle, Gen. Geo. Rogers Clark, hearing of the fact, sought him out and on account of his youth and supposed inability to stand the severe duties of a private soldier, used his influence to have young ASHLEY transferred to a post of duty as Guard over an Armory, removing him from the front, on hearing of the guns in a battle then in progress. By this means the young soldier escaped the experience of fighting in the ranks, and he was never again nearer the seat of war than on the day of his transfer. He served his full time as designated.” In 1806, he and his family moved to Highland Co. where they lived in a tent until a log cabin could be built on the land that became the family homestead for more than a century. ASHLEY JOHNSON was first settler of Leesburg, Ohio. In the year 1808, ASHLEY’S brothers, William and Elijah, and their father, William, came from Campbell Co., Va. “ASHLEY JOHNSON of S.R. CHART 20

GEORGE KENDRICK BAGBY was a member of Company B, 18th Va. Infantry and was wounded in battle before Richmond, Ill in Confederate Hospital in Richmond. He was wounded again before Gettysburg. He was Commissary Sergeant of his company. After the war he graduated from Pennsylvania Dental College 1866. He located in New Bern, N.C. for the practice of dentistry. There he met and married Helen Dunn of Kinston, N.C. of a prominent Eastern Carolina Family. (Dr. Bagby was a widower having buried his first wife while a young man prior to the outbreak of the Civil War). He later moved to Kinston and continued the practice of his profession until 1885, his wife having died in 1881, he was left with three children. He married Harriett Dill, sister of the well-known railroad man. The following is quoted from the Kinston Free Press: "Perhaps there never lived a man in Kinston so widely known as Dr. Bagby. He was an entertaining talker, and a man of impressive personality. He had a remarkable memory for names and faces, never forgetting one after even a casual meeting, and he was also one whom few ever forgot." The following is quoted from the New Bern Journal: "Dr. Bagby was well known in this community and county, having been here many times in past years, and was universally respected as a man of high moral character and business integrity. Blessed with an affable manner and pleasing address, it was not difficult for him to win friends wherever he was thrown."

'BENJAMIN FRANKLIN JOHNSON settled in Alexandria, Iowa, and was engaged in the wholesale mercantile business. At the outbreak of the Civil war, he joined the Southern Army. On his return, after the war, he found the sentiment against any one who had entered the Southern Army to be so strong that he could not remain there in safety, so in the spring of '65, he took his family and moved to Indianapolis. He had a lumber mill there. It seems strange that he should enter the Southern Army since his ancestors, the Quakers, were against slaves and had moved from the South because of that reason. When the Republican party took sides against slavery, all the Quakers became Republicans, but he became a Democrat. His entry into the Southern Army was because he slipped over twelve or fifteen hundred feet from the Iowa free Republican state into Missouri, a slave holding Democratic state. His store was likely not more than a square from the Iowa line.'

'HARRY MASON JOHNSON lived in Indianapolis and was in the real estate business.'

“JOHN & SUSANNAH JOHNSON were born and raised in Campbell Co, Va. Their children, Lucy W., Eliz., & Garland, were born in Campbell Co., Va. Because they objected to slavery they decided to move to Ohio (1808) which was a free state. They traveled the five or six hundred miles by wagon. They left all of their relatives, except one brother who came with them. At night they cooked the food for the evening also prepared the food for the next day. They stayed in Hghland County, Ohio for two years. In 1810, they decided to move to Clinton Co. It was new country so they had to build a home out of a wilderness. They had to suffer all the hardships of the pioneer life. The tent they lived in was open on one side like a sugar camp, where they kept a log fire to do their cooking, and warming on cool evenings and mornings. The fire would keep the bears and wolves out of the tent while they slept. After most of their children were grown up, they built a one story brick huse, where they spent the remainder of their days.”

MARRIAGE BOND: KNOW BY ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, THAT we, MICAJAH M. JOHNSON and Thomas Baugh, are held and firmly bound until John Tyler, esq. of the State of virginia, in the sum of One Hundred and Fifty Dollars to which payment well and trully to be made to the said Governor or his successors, we bind ourselves, our heirs, Exors., and Admsr., jointly and severally firmly by these presents. Sealed and dated this 8th day of January, 1810.

The condition of the above obligation is such that whereas there is a marriage shortly intended to be held and solemnized between the above MICAJAH M. JOHNSON and PEGGY CARSON, daughter of Wm. Carson of Campbell

IF THEREFORE THERE ARE NO LAWFUL CAUSE TO OBSTRUCT THE SAME THEN THIS OBLIGATION TO BE VOID, OTHERWISE TO REMAIN IN FULL FORCE AND VIRTUE.

Sealed and Delivered in Presence of

John Alexander, D.C.

Micajah M. Johnson (SEAL)

Thomas Baugh, (SEAL)

Campbell Co., January 8, 1810

Mr. Alexander: Sir, please to grant licence to MICAJAH M. JOHNSON to get married to PEGGY CARSON both of said county.

William Carson, Senr.

Witnesses:

Thomas Baugh

Nancy Carson

“Typical of those who were disowned for minor reasons by the Society might be the case of MICAJAH JOHNSON, “who having joined himself in marriage to a woman not of our religious profession,” was disowned by the Meeting. His bride was MARGARET CARSON, the daughter of Wm. Carson, Revolutionary Soldier and Presbyterian. It seems that MICAJAH proposed her name for membership, but being born and bred a Presbyterian they did not seem to think that she gave much promise as a future Quakeress, so refused to Accept her. MICAJAH then married her “out of Meeting” and was disowned. In 1813, with two small children, they rode horseback to Ohio, each carrying a child in the saddle. Here she raised the children as Presbyterians, since he was cut off by his Quaker friends and relatives. Twenty years later, the couple became Methodists and their son, Silas, became the first minister of the Christian Church in Northwest Indiana and one of the first in the State. Their grandson became a well-known minister of early Iowa.”

This entire quotation taken from:

“Lynchburg’s Pioneer Quakers and their Meeting House” by Douglas S. Brown – J.P. Bell Company, Ind. --- 1936.

“During the summer of 1813, MICAJAH & MARGARET JOHNSON moved to Highland Co., riding horseback. Most of the immigrants moved with large ox wagons and ox carts, bringing what they could of their goods, and many of them walked most or all of the way. They also brought live stock with them. Roads were bad and much of the way, there were no roads at all. There were no bridges, and in rainy weather travel was disagreeable and much delayed.”

“MICAJAH & MARGARET JOHNSON came to Ohio. During the time he lived in Ohio, he ran two grist mills, and did some farming. In 1833, he went to Indiana and was in the milling business. He then moved to the Wabash and farmed there for two years. He moved to the Cooper farm and then came to Washington Township, Newton Co., Inc. They raised their own flax and made their own linen, and grew their own wool.”

“JAMES M. JOHNSON worked at the carpenter trade, first a shig, then a republican. He was sheriff of his county.:

“ROBERT C. JOHNSON & SILAS JHNSON settled in Indiana. They were Christian preachers.”

“SILAS JOHNSON was active in organizing the new county of Newton. He was the first State Representative from Newton, Jackson, and Pulaski Counties, Ind., and served in the 44th Regular special session in 1865. He came from Tippecanoe County in 1846.”

“PIERCE ARCHIBALD, son of Sally & James, was State Representative in 1897. He represented Jasper & Newton Counties and was County Superintendent of Schools from 1878 to 1879.”

“DEMPSEY JOHNSON farmed for a living and also preached in many counties. In ten months he traveled thirteen hundred miles, most of it on horseback to preach.”

“JOHN F. JOHNSON taught in a number of public schools and was a farmer. He served his county as commissioner, treasurer, and was in the State Legislature, representing Jasper and Newton Counties.”

“ISAAC MORRIS probably died in the latter part of 1825 or early part of 1826. His estate is appraised March 17, 1826, and total value of personal property was set at $370.33-1/2. The appraisers were John Rains, Thomas Queenberry, and Elias Beller. Isaac's wife, Millicent, was allotted land by commissioners appointed by the court of Grayson, Apr. 4, 1826. There is not too much known about the family back of Isaac. There is a legend that one of the early Morrisses was a teamster in Washington's army. Also, that Gov. Morris was some sort of great uncle. Since they were Quakers, they probably came from North Carolina, since they were right on the border.”

“ISAAC MORRIS, son of Millicent and Isaac Morris, was the “Wanderer” of the family and it is believed that he lies buried in the Dunkard Cemetery up above Samantha. The Dunkard Cemetery is located on the Hillsboro-Highland road, about three miles south-east of Highland, Ohio. He used to live down in the Morrow neighborhood near Boatman's Crossroads. The Morrow neighborhood is on the old Hillsboro-Washington C. H. Road.”

“DAVID EDLEY MORRIS, son of Millicent and Isaac Morris, lived about one-half miles from where Emmitt Morris lived. This is on a short cut road from Leesburg-Wash. C. H. road to Sabina. He gave his children money instead of land, and his children located in Indiana. David was the eldest of the family and was a “clown.” The following story has been handed down about him. When chopping wood, he would always chuckle over getting paid for a “doxus” cord. There is a David buried at Fairfield Cemetery which is believed to be this one. Fairfield Cemetery is a Quaker cemetery, one a quarter miles south of Leesburg, Ohio, at the fork of the Leesburg-Hillsburg and Leesburg-Bridges roads.”

ADDENDUM

The following families lived in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, and were Colonial Quakers. County records relate to numerous "Johnsons" prior to the dates of the earliest ascendants known to these lines, and from whom these families may have descended.

However, Arthur Johnson, Fifth son of George Johnston of that ilk (see page 1) is known to have settled in America and it is possible that these families have descended from Arthur Johnston.

Arthur Johnston was born 1587, and was named for his uncle, the Honourable Arthur Forbes of Towie, son of William 7th Loird Forbes, who was killed at Paris 1574.

In his childhood, Arthur was put to school in Kintore, which is not far from the Castle of Caskieben, and from Kintore he was removed to the University of Marischal College, Aberdeen. After going through the usual curriculum, he commenced his travels on the continent, a custom pursued by all Scottish youth of rank. (See Memoir of Dr. Johnston in edition of his Psalms, 1741). He took the degree of Doctor of Medicine at Padua 1610. He then went to France, and was Laureated poet at Paris. (Phillip's Theatrum Poetarum). He settled in France and remained there for 20 years. In 1632, he was, by King Charles I, appointed his Physician in Ordinary. In 1637, he edited the Delitiae Poetarum Scotorum, to which he contributed his Parerga, and published his translation of the Psalms of David in Latin verse, a work he accomplished in 4 years. He also wrote the Musae Aulicae for Commendatory verses upon persons in church and State in his own time. In 1637, he was elected Retour in Kings College, in the hall of which University there is a portrait of him. He was twice married and had by his wives (whose names are unknown) a family of 13 children, "of whom no particular account has been preserved, having gone to England and America. (Thom's History of Aberdeen). His son James was a traveling missionary but I have been, so far, unable to locate any Journal left by him. However, Friends records filed in the Somerset House, London, contain many references to him, and his name is preserved in Virginia, at the Isle of Wight Meeting, where in 1682, he bore witness to the marriage of John Collings and Mary Tookes "of ye county of Surry" (Isle of Wight Quaker Records) (First Publishers of London). Nothing more of him is known to me. He is not mentioned in the Journal of Thomas Chalkley, who in 1798 rites, "...had a meeting at widow Newby's and then at Nansemond, and the Branch, then Benneta Creek, Chuckatuck, Rosper-neck, Pagan Creek and into Surry County, to Robert Hunicut's to Curles, up the James River to thomas & John Pleasants', to the Swamp & Cedar Creek ... found ourselves clear of America, agreed with our Friend F. Johnson of the 'Elizabeth & Mary' to carry us for England.

It is significant, however, that the early Quakers moved freely, and that these families may have descended from William and John Johnston who lived in Louisa & Hanover Counties. It should be recalled that these Colonial Quakers, almost to a man, moved from the British Isles seeking religious freedom, and that few new members were ever accepted into their society. It is further significant that no record reveals the acceptance of these individuals into the Society and had they been so accepted, such record would certainly be among the manuscript of the Isle of Wight Meeting, which is intact. It is probable that they were "Birthright" Quakers, who moved from another meeting (Cedar Creek or Hanover?) in good standing.

The Minute Book of Pagan Creek, Isle of Wight County, shows on the following references to Johnson:

Johnson, Jacob and Mary Denson declared intentions 3 day of 7 mo. 1741
